

Key Changes:

Log message.content: We now log message.content to see exactly what OpenAI is returning.

Handle Missing Content: We handle the case where message.content is missing by logging a default message.

Next Steps:

Run the server again.

Check the logs for the output of Message Content and see what OpenAI is returning.

If the message is empty or does not contain the expected code, we may need to refine the prompt or check if there are any issues with the OpenAI API's response structure.

Let me know what you see, and we can proceed from there!